

PDF Addendum

I noticed I missed two red questions from the original PDF but with the deadline coming up don't have time to re-export

1.2 The ones with the window glare look the best, as they have a slightly redder hue that I think is more realistic

1.3. The three developed images are as follows:
the DCraw output, the image processing pipeline, and the given baby.jeg

I find the image processing pipeline version (specifically the manually white balanced ones based on the window glare) to be the most visually appealing; both the provided baby.jpeg and the dcraw output are slightly too gray/desaturated and dim for my liking, so I like the implemented one the best